Two Strong Men Gone
Levy Mayer—Northcliffe
The Roads Say "No"
Ko Low's End

By Arthur Brisbane

Comment 1922 to the Co.
The sudden death of Levy Mayer taken from the American bar one of its most powerful figures, and from many great industrial and other organizations their ablest adviser.
Levy Mayer died a victim of work and of devotion to his clients. He worked ceaselessly, night and day. Interests entrusted to him were never out of his mind.
He supplied to his important clients not only legal knowledge and fighting ability, but the mental courage to face their difficulties. Many will testify to that.
While working professionally for others he neglected himself, his own health. He devoted no time to real exercise, recreation or vacation. His death is a warning to other men past fifty.
He leaves behind him many earnest friendships earned by unselfishness and loyalty.

Alfred Harmsworth, who became Sir Alfred, then Lord Northcliffe, is dead, leaving no child to inherit his title, his vast fortune or the marvelous engine of publicity, the many newspapers that he leaves behind him.
He worked well and courageously for the British empire that gave him his success.
And he worked FOR THE BRITISH EMPIRE, not for any other country, not for any other thing. Some American so-called "statesmen" might remember that.

Wherever England was concerned, Northcliffe's ideas were the brains and backbone, although he was alive still praise him now. He was for England.

The private owners of railroads, who feel that they can always "even things up" by taxing the public, say that they want a fight on a "fair" basis with union labor. If it must come, it ought to finish first of all private ownership of public monopolies and reactivate upon which the people depend.

The railroads of the United States have long since outgrown the brains and backbone, although not the cupidry, of their owners.

Ko Low is buried. Five motor cars carried five thousand dollars' worth of flowers to his grave. He lay in his coffin in Chinatown dressed in black. Tankei, his chief, coughed. His eyes were puffed.

White girls, also roused and puffed, poor things, went at his coffin when the crowd had gone. He had been kind to them.

A Chinese Baptist that was to have helped bury him did not appear. Ko Low had been converted to the Catholic faith in London when he married an English girl, so a Catholic performed the last rites.

The dead Chinese wore his decorations of past grand master in the Masonic order. And he Standard Oil Company sent a wreath to his funeral. A thousand marched, four abreast, to the grave. His friends threw "prayer ribbons."

And that was the end of Ko Low, head of the powerful Ho Sing Tong, who was murdered as he walked out of the Chinese Delmonico's with a white girl on either arm.
When Ko Low arrives on that other shore it may be found difficult to classify him.

The best news from Russia and for Russia in many a day is the opening of the great fair at Nizhny Novgorod. It is to be hoped that some good moving men were present in the great building, one mile square, where Russians, Mongolians, Japanese, Koreans, Danes, Chinese and motor trucks gathered to buy and sell.

Dobsherk Russia is organizing a church and a clergy of its own, adapting the old Russian Greek Church and putting it under Soviet direction. Trotsky, Lenin, or whoever is responsible, imitates Napoleon, who restored the church in France, saying that he had need of a spiritual preference as well as physical fighting men.

The Russians, however, lack Napoleon's common sense. They are urging the bishops to marry, that they may be "like other people." They are going to abolish divorce, request costumes and coronations. That is a mistake in itself. If you do not give the people the kind of religion they want, they will find somebody else to give it to them.

RAINSACK HOME IN DAYLIGHT

Wife Away Four Hours. Returns to Find Property Has Vanished

The home of Charles B. Seagrave, editor and publisher of the Cambridge Chronicle, was ransacked in an audacious daylight robbery today, and a quantity of valuable silverware stolen.

The exact value of the loss cannot be known until a checkup is made, but it will be large.

Returning to her home at No. 48 Bellevue avenue shortly after noon after being away four hours, Mrs. Seagrave found the door open.

Entering, she discovered that the house had been thoroughly looted. She reported the robbery to the Cambridge police.

SUPREME COURT GETS OIL PERMIT ROW

The petition of the Tide Water Oil Company for a writ of prohibition to prevent the Boston street commissioners from revoking the permit to store oil on Lothrop street, South Boston, was referred to the full bench of the Supreme Court, it was decided by Judge Crosby today after a hearing had been held.

The permit for oil storage came into the possession of the Tide Water Oil Company through the purchase of the property of Messrs. Pratt and Putnam.

One of the questions which the court must decide is whether the permit came into the possession of the oil company through the conveyance of the property.

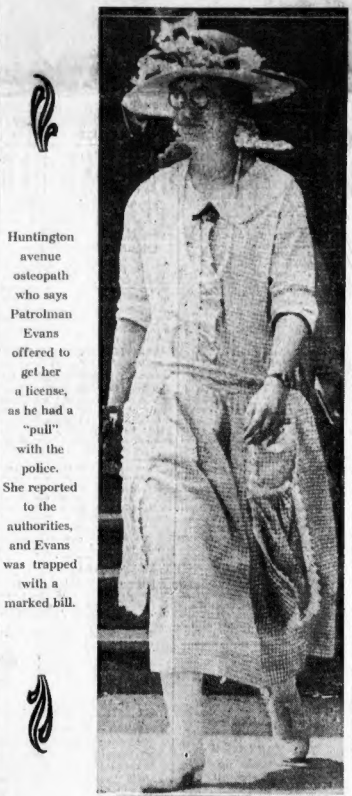

YES, LI'CRETIA, BUT THIS IS BOSTON, MASS.

Seventeen-year-old Loretta B. Reiter comes from Missouri, but is spending the summer at No. 64 Temple avenue, Winthrop. On July 21, while driving an automobile along Saratoga street, East Boston, the young woman failed to sound a signal. In court today she told Judge Barnes that a signal was not necessary in her home city of St. Louis and that she had been taught by her mother to know nothing about the laws in other states. Judge Barnes refused to make an exception and Miss Reiter paid her fine with a $5 gold piece.

RAIL STRIKE COSTING FRUIT GROWERS $50,000,000

By ELLIS H. MARTIN
International News Service Staff Correspondent
San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 15.—With no improvement in traffic conditions in sight and all but one line shut blocked to the shipment of their products, California fruit growers, facing a loss of at least $50,000,000, are here today to devise ways and means to meet the situation brought about by the railroad strike.

The meeting was called by State Director of Agriculture G. H. Hoke, who hopes to find a way of pooling interests so as to salvage as much as possible of the record crop.

WRECK INQUEST AT WORCESTER

Worcester, Aug. 15.—A number of large pieces of flat stone, from 6 to 18 inches in length, were found on the tracks of the Boston & Albany Railroad at a point where marbles on the ties indicated that the wrecks had first left the tracks, according to the testimony of Jeremiah A. Lee of Pittsfield, conductor of the Berkshire Express, which was wrecked at Putnam Lane, August 8, causing two deaths and injuries to about twenty people.

The testimony was offered in District Court today where special Justice Herbert H. Whiting conducted an inquest on the deaths of Eugene W. Russell of Natick and Freeman Robert C. McDonald of Abbeyside, who were killed in the accident.

$26,000 GEM THIEF'S SENTENCE SUSPENDED

George H. Morrill, former salesman of the Hodgson-Kennard jewelry firm on State street, who stole $25,000 worth of goods, pleaded guilty today before Judge Sullivan in the Municipal Court. Because of the fact that he made complete restitution, and on account of his advanced age (he is 47) he was let off with a sentence of six months in the House of Correction. The sentence was suspended.

HARDING TO PUT STRIKE UP TO CONGRESS

Washington, Aug. 15.—President Harding will lay railroad strike before Congress and before people within forty-eight hours, it was announced today at the White House after following Cabinet meeting.

DR. SUN BECOMES LEADER IN NORTH

Peking, Aug. 15.—(By Associated Press)—The cost of living in China has been increased 124 per cent within the last thirty days, according to the monthly index figures. The general effect on the public mind has not become apparent today, but it is a serious holiday. But serious uneasiness was felt over possible developments tomorrow with the inevitable further advance in prices. The official value of the krona was $5.22 to the dollar.

These leaders held another conference with B. M. Jewell, leader of the striking ship craft workers, and the other chiefs of striking unions. Foremost among the matters under consideration was understood to be the removal of the Brotherhood leaders that attempts be made to negotiate a settlement with the railroad where executives have shown an intention toward compromise.

GOODSELL FAMILY ARRANGS MINISTER

Member of Aged Man's Flock and Sister Make Charges That Stir Town
Adams, Aug. 15.—That the Rev. Joseph Walker, aged pastor of Union Church, Windsor, under arrest as the father of the unborn child of eighteen-year-old Evelyn Goodsell, tried to become unduly familiar with Miss Goodsell's sixteen-year-old sister, Ruth, was charged today by Ruth Goodsell.

According to the family Goodsell, whose daughter Evelyn's pregnancy closely resembles that of Hester Prynne, heroine of Hawthorne's "Scarlet Letter," the minister began paying an undue amount of attention to the daughter of the family fully five years ago.

The Rev. Mr. Walker has been married twice. His first wife died. Two of his grown daughters, one the wife of a Philadelphia Congressional minister named Mordcau, live with him. The third daughter resides with her husband in Cairo, Egypt.

The aged pastor was married the second time in October, 1918, to a Portland woman. It is claimed that in April, 1919, he returned to her home in Portland, Me. It is rumored she has entered suit for divorce.

ANOTHER GIRL ACCUSES PASTOR "SCARLET LETTER" CASE

MEMBER OF FLOCK SAYS ITS AGED LEADER RUINED HER LIFE; WIFE TO SUE

and Mrs. William Goodell and their four children. Burnett, twenty; George, nineteen; Evelyn, eighteen; and Ruth, sixteen.

STORY OF FATHER.
"Mr. Walker began to bother my girls fully five years ago," said the father today.

"One day he called. 'We were all sitting in the parlor. Evelyn went to the kitchen. He followed her. Later Evelyn told us he had made improper advances. I warned him to keep away from the girls.'"

Later, it is charged, the minister resumed his visits to the Goodell home, and his relations with the eldest daughter became more intimate.

Members of the family family say the minister frequently called to see Evelyn in the morning, when her father was in Pittsfield and her mother engaged in cleaning the schoolhouse.

"About two years ago Mr. Walker tried to get overfamiliar with me," declared Ruth Goodell today. "But I put an end to his attention by smacking him in the face."

When arrested before Judge Fred

M. Shaw, who held him in $500 bail until September 24, the Rev. Mr. Walker declared he was innocent of the charge upon which Sheriff John Thompson took him into custody.

He was arrested while attending a church conference at Northfield.

INSISTS ON INNOCENCE.
"I am innocent," he told Judge Shaw. "I cannot understand why this young woman has made this charge against me. She is a member of my congregation and that is all."

Mrs. William Goodell, mother of the girl, recently returned from Winsted, Ct., where she spent five months. She learned then that Evelyn had gone to visit friends at Northfield, Mass. It developed then that she had discovered the girl's condition, and sent her to Pittsfield.

There she got in touch with Miss Laura Kippie, connected with the Home for Little Wanderers, who sent her to the Fairview Hospital at Great Barrington.

Mr. and Mrs. Goodell hastened to that Barrington to see Evelyn. There, tearfully, she prospective mother, told her parents how she claimed, a modern counterpart of Hawthorne's "Scarlet Letter" had brought the scarlet letter of shame to their door.

After a conference her parents had the girl sent to a maternity home in Boston, where her child is to be born within a few days.

TOWN IN FACTIONS.
Towardfolk for mine around an spit in factions over the case. One faction, siding with the aged divine, insists not only that he is innocent, but a victim of a plot to blacken his name.

The other faction says that if the minister's guilt is proven, the young girl will not be forced to bear the burden of her shame alone, as had Hawthorne's heroine.

$15,000 Fire in Chelsea.
Fire caused $15,000 damage to the Rev. Jacob Synan's home at 208, 191 111 Bird street, Chelsea. The blaze of unknown origin, had raged for some time before the firemen arrived. The damage was estimated at $15,000.

Sees Photograph of His Wife and Returns Home

Joseph P. Smith, the twenty-seven-year-old inventor who disappeared from his home, No. 150 West Eighth street, South Boston, two weeks ago, returned today. Smith, who said he had been in New York, declared he decided to return after seeing his wife's picture in the Boston American, together with a story to the effect she was nearly prostrated.

The young man, who dropped out of sight after weekending calls at his home, said he had obtained some encouragement in New York.

SUES B. P. CHENEY FOR NOTES OF $250,000.
The American Amusement Company brought suit today in the Superior Court of Suffolk County for $250,000 against Benjamin P. Cheney, husband of Julia Arthur, the actress, living at the Hotel Bristol. The suit is brought to recover balances alleged to be due on sixteen notes of $15,000 each made by Cheney in 1934 and 1935, and said to have been endorsed by him to the company.

Senator John P. England of the Sixth Suffolk will open his campaign for re-election in an auto parade through Roxbury Thursday night.

NEW HAVEN AND 'BIG 4' CHIEFS TO CONFER

New Haven, Ct., Aug. 15.—Clinton L. Burdo, general manager of the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad has agreed to a conference with a committee from the Big Four Brotherhoods this afternoon. They will discuss the alleged grievances claimed by engineers, firemen, conductors and trainmen regarding the equipment of the road, particularly the rolling stock which they claim is in unsafe condition.

Referring to the condition of the rolling stock Mr. Burdo said the statement made by the company on Saturday summed up the situation. This statement said the company "believed their equipment in good condition."

John A. Temple, secretary of the local union of trainmen, said the members of the Big Four Brotherhoods were planning a joint meeting to be held within a week, when the questions of equipment and strike would be discussed.

He said the men do not intend waiting orders from their national officers, but would tell the latter what their intentions are and then act accordingly.

He said it could not be called a strike. The transportation act of 1930 forbids a strike, he stated, as does the constitution of their organization, but the men are permitted to refuse to work with rolling stock that is considered unsafe.

Legal Officers Deified by Strikers in Kansas
Topeka, Kan., Aug. 15.—Threats that striking shopmen will no longer recognize the rights of state, city and county law enforcement officers are contained in an official resolution adopted here by the executive committee of the striking shopmen.

"We have tried to be peaceful and tried to keep peace violence, but we no longer can or will attempt to do these things."

Marooned Passengers Make Merry at Dance
Albuquerque, N. M., Aug. 15.—After a week-end through Santa Fe trains still were tied up here early today and five at Las Vegas, N. M. Six cases of sickness on the trains stranded here were given attention by the Santa Fe officials.

More than 500 marooned passengers attended a dance given in their honor by the Chamber of Commerce.

Union Pacific Men Back; Trains Move

LABOR STILL SEES PEACE.
Leaders of the railroad labor organizations today made public their opinion of President Harding's final offer for settlement of the national strike of shop craftsmen but declared attempts to negotiate the settlement by direct dealings between railroad executives and heads of the labor organizations were still in progress.

The union leaders after their statement also made public a statement that the railroad executives by their response to the President's final offer had not "declined to accept the President's proposition" and had "not even agreed to permit all employees now on strike to return to work."

Calls for General Industrial Strike
Pawcett, R. I., Aug. 15.—A general strike of workers in all industries in the United States as a means of ending industrial control by a few big trusts was urged today at a meeting of the central Union of Industrial Workers here. The union represents all branches of industry in the Black Stone Valley.

Warn Nevada Against New 'Herrin Tragedy'
Las Vegas, Nev., Aug. 15.—City officials here today warned Nevada against a new "Herrin tragedy" which they feared an outbreak before reinforcements arrived.

Approximately 150 persons, railroad shop employees, guards and their wives and children, were virtual prisoners in a railroad stockade here early today and Union Pacific workers were maintaining pickets outside.

Governor Boyle, who has been here several days, addressed the strikers, telling them to "hold their fire" against a "psychic jug." He told them a clash between strikers and

TEACHER ACCUSED BY PUPILS WILL KEEP HER POSITION

AUBURN BOARD WILL LET HER STAY "ALL HER LIFE"

By HANOLD R. HALL.

Auburn, Aug. 14.—Miss Gladys Daggett, principal of the Stoneville School, whose dismissal was demanded by parents on the grounds that she brutally beat some of her pupils, will not be dismissed.

Miss Daggett has held her position for the past ten years, and the school committee is perfectly willing that she remain absolute in the charge of the school. "Certain interests are working to remove Chairman, David of the school committee," declared Mrs. C. S. Baran, the feminine member of the committee, "and Miss Daggett is really just the 'post.' It is too bad for her to be a victim woman and a fine teacher."

"However, we are all for her and she can stay here for life if she wants to. She is perfectly satisfactory to the committee and to a majority of the parents and children. The matter has been brewing, citizens say, for more than a year. It came to a head when Selectman C. Emil Lindgren presented a petition to the State Board of Education asking for an investigation. This petition was signed by 125 persons—all reputed to be parents. Miss Daggett was the only one who held up against Miss Daggett by the angry parents is that of thirteen."

How You Can Remove Every Trace of Hair USE DELATONE

(Treat Delatone)

A stiff paste made with some powdered delatone and water and spread on a hairy surface about 2 minutes will, when removed, take every trace of hair with it. The skin should then be washed to free it from the remaining delatone. No harm can result from this treatment, but be sure it is delatone you get and you will not be disappointed. ACCUSE BRADY BROKERFIRM OF BUCKETING TOOTH IS READY FOR CHANNEL SWIM TONIGHT

Edward Brady & Co., Boston stock brokers, are accused of carrying on "bucketing" activities in a bill in equity filed in the Suffolk Superior Court by William B. Holland of Melford.

Holland, who seeks the return of seven $1,000 bonds given as collateral to cover a margin on certain stock bought through the Brady company, alleged that his orders for the purchase of stock were not carried out, "but were in fact bucketed."

On July 6, Holland asserts, the Brady company sent him a notice that they had sold 100 shares of Mex-Pete at 152½, and 100 shares of Pan-Am. Pete at 52½, for him, whereas this stock had actually risen to 167½ and 57, respectively.

NEW ACCIDENT LAW IN EFFECT

A family which loses its father and breadwinner by industrial accident may now receive a maximum of $5,000 under the new feature of the Workmen's Compensation law which became effective today. The old law allowed a limit of $4,000. The weekly payment to the surviving dependents is now increased from $10 to $15 for a period of 40 weeks. The allowance is graded. A widow with one child will receive $15 a week, with two children $12 a week, with three children $14 and more than three children $15 a week.

San Bernardino, Cal., Aug. 15.—Two babies born on stranded trains at Belman, Ariz., were among 400 passengers returned here today after four hot days and nights in the desert.

No hardships were encountered by the marooned travelers except when the babies were born without the proper facilities to care for them.

The first arrived Saturday and the second three hours before the train left Sunday.

12,000 MINERS QUIT WORK IN NOVA SCOTIA

Halifax, N. S., Aug. 15.—Twelve thousand miners quit work at midnight, demanding the 1921 wage schedule be adhered to. Yesterday Sydney, word was sent to the locals in this district, No. 24, calling off the strike set for August 16.

This order was given at the conclusion of a conference of the U. M. W. executive and the British Empire Steel Corporation heads, which took place Sunday. It was thought the trouble was in abeyance for the present, but suddenly, last evening, the order to quit work was sent out. The decision to strike came at a very stormy meeting held last night at Sydney.

result of the break up of the allied conference on German indemnity.

It was reported from Paris that Premier Poincaré telegraphed to M. Duhio, chairman of the Inter-Allied Reparations Commission, to fight any attempt to grant an indemnity moratorium to Germany.

The collapse of the conference was due to opposition between the British and French over the moratorium terms that should be imposed upon Germany. The British were opposed to the drastic conditions placed upon by Premier Poincaré.

The newspapers regard the situation as most dangerous.

THIRD RAILROAD FIRE SET IN PORTLAND

Portland, Me., Aug. 15.—The third fire, believed to have been of incendiary origin, within forty-eight hours, on railroad property here, seriously threatened the Maine Central office building of the Maine Central Railroad today. It was confined to the storage room in the basement where it started.

The blaze in the office building on St. John street, near Union Station, was extinguished through quick action by clerk. The room was filled with records, letter files and inflammable supplies.

The fire broke out at 8 o'clock, six hours after an attempt was made. It was alleged, to burn twenty-eight locomotives in the roundhouse at Thompson's Point, a short distance away. Five of these were sent last night from Waterville to replace part of the twenty engines of the Boston & Maine, Maine Central and Portland Terminal Company which were burned in a $400,000 fire in No. 3 roundhouse Sunday morning.

The reward of $500 offered by rail road officials was duplicated today by Attorney-General Randolph W. Blaw for evidence leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons responsible for the fire.

EXPECT PARLEY TO END HARD COAL STRIKE

Washington, Aug. 15.—The brightest ray of light in the darkened industrial situation appeared today from the anthracite coal fields of Pennsylvania where, persons in close touch with the situation expressed the belief, chances for a quick and satisfactory settlement of the long drawn out strike of union miners were good.

Definite results from the meeting in Philadelphia tomorrow of Pennsylvania operators with President John L. Lewis of the United Mine Workers were predicted. Senator Pepper is acting as mediator.

President Harding, said "there would be an adjustment of all differences for the time being, at least, will be accomplished."

It was believed possible that if at least a temporary settlement should result from the Philadelphia conference, an agreement might be reached for the creation of a presidential or congressional commission to adjust future wage difficulties.

Soft Coal Peace
Ready to Sign

Cleveland, Aug. 15 (By the Associated Press).—A wage scale was ready today for the signatures of soft coal operators and miners, and prospects were that some mines would be opened on Wednesday.

"It is all a matter of procedure," said President John L. Lewis, in referring to the delaying of actual ratification.

"The strike is over," said Joseph Paraglove, an operator, who served as the sub-committee.

The settlement provides that the miners shall return to work at the same scale of wages in effect when they went on strike.

Coal Price Laws
Needed, Says Hoover

Washington, Aug. 15.—Legislation by Congress to regulate distribution and price of coal during the winter was declared today by Secretary Hoover to be necessary even though operations soon are started in the bituminous and anthracite fields.

The suspension of work in the coal fields, now in the tenderest week, has so lowered coal stocks, Mr. Hoover said, that not even immediate and reasonable full production will remove the necessity of some measure of regulation during the next six months.

N. E. Dealers Pay More Than Hoover Price

New England coal dealers are paying $12.70 a ton, instead of about $11, the so-called Hoover price, it was stated at the office of Paul Administrator Hoffman today.

Three weeks ago Governor Cox brought to the attention of Secretary Hoover the fact coal operators had broken away from the "fair price agreement." The Governor asked him to do all he could to stop "speculation in way-bills."

Order Railroads to Stop Confiscating Coal

Washington, Aug. 15.—The action of railroads in confiscating coal was denounced today by the Interstate Commerce Commission. "This practice is not consistent with the spirit of the orders of the commission and tends to defeat the efforts now being made to insure the most efficient distribution of coal," the commission said. All railroads were ordered to stop confiscating coal.

CANADIAN RAILWAYS
CUT SHOPMEN'S PAY

Montreal, Aug. 15.—Canadian railways today cut the semi-monthly wages of their shopmen about $200,000, although $7,000,000 workers and threatened to strike if the action was taken before the board of conciliation had decided the dispute.

One day a neighbor told me about your Vegetable Compound and I bought it. It helped me so much that I wish to advise all women to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for female troubles and backache. It is a great help in carrying a child, as I have noticed a difference when I took it. I thank you for this medicine and if I ever come to this point again I do not want to be without the Vegetable Compound. I give you permission to publish this letter so that all women can take my advice."—Mrs. FRED MINER, Box 102, Charubonco, N. Y.

It's the same story over again. Women suffer from ailments for years. They try doctors and different medicines, but feel no better. Finally they take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and you can see its value in the case of Mrs. Miner. All ailing women ought to try this medicine. It can be taken in safety by young or old, as it contains no harmful drugs.

DECLARE HE WOULD HAVE WIFE TO KILL HIS HUSBAND AS HE SLEPT

EXPECT TO SEE GIBSON'S BODIES IN WOODS

Prosecutor Doubts Story of Robbery and Murder by Two Strange Men

Lakehurst, N. J., Aug. 15.—Mrs. William Gibson was arrested here on a charge of killing her husband, a wealthy taxi line operator, as he lay asleep in his bed.

The evidence against her is circumstantial. A number of witnesses, a hall of two, a napkin and a possible motive led to her being detained. The village was thrilled when Mrs. Gibson aroused the neighborhood with her story. Three railroad detectives rushed into the house. To them she told her story. "I heard a shot in my husband's room," she said. "Then I heard a strange man's voice say: 'What did you kill him for?' and another answered: 'He was waking up. I take no chances.'"

"I rushed into the room, the two men seized me and gagged me and fled. They took $200 my husband had by the bed."

But Prosecutor Jayne doubts her story. After grilling her he had her checked with murder.

He believes the blonde is in love with another man and that she shot her husband to clear the way for marriage to a new fiance. Instead, she is seeking "the man of her dreams."

"If any strange man was in the Gibson house it was the missing woman, Jayne says."

"When I questioned Mrs. Gibson I was not at all impressed by her story," Jayne said. "She says she was with the two men in the kitchen. The room is not big enough for three persons to get in, much less stage a fight."

"Mrs. Gibson said the robbers took a napkin from the refrigerator and gagged her. She said she had been in the kitchen for three days. Four of them were still twenty in place. If robbers had seized them in the dark, as she says, I do not believe they would have remained so perfectly in place."

"Then as to the twin she says she was used to fasten her legs. The hall of two was found under her husband's bed, and evidence had been used to cut it. Robbers don't cut twin with scissors."

The arrest did not shake Mrs. Gibson's composure. She stuck to her story. She was not able to call help she said, until she had worked one hand loose from the binding and removed the plug from her mouth.

Gibson, withdrawn $700 from a bank the day before his death. He planned to go to Philadelphia to buy a new automobile. The money is missing.

Head Swathes Latest Fad Adopted by Society at Shore, Says Betty Alden

By BETTY ALDEN.

THE North Shore Garden Club of Massachusetts has become an active force in the betterment of the community, as it promotes interest in gardens, their design, management and culture. Its members meet to exchange experiences, and only those interested practically in their own gardens are eligible to membership.

The club, which is limited to forty members, meets every other Wednesday at four o'clock from June to September inclusive. The president is Mrs. Charles Hopkinson of Manchester, and the vice-president is Mrs. William C. Loring of Prides Crossing.

Last Wednesday, Mrs. S. V. R. Crosby, of West Manchester, read a profoundly interesting paper on "The Preservation of Native New England Plants" before an audience that nearly filled Horticultural Hall in Manchester. Colored slides, showing the wild flowers in their natural setting, illustrated the talk.

Ladies in the club are becoming strongly interested in broadening the scope of the coming summer exhibition of the North Shore Horticultural Society, to be held on Tuesday and Wednesday of next week in Manchester. This exhibition is one of the most gorgeously beautiful sights I have ever seen. All the wonderful gardens along the shore, which is famous for them, send vegetables, fruits or flowers. Perhaps the loveliest sight last year was the table on which the sweet peas were shown. There wasn't any color in the rainbow or in any fashionable shop which was not represented in these fragrant blossoms.

A few, among the many who send exhibits, are Mrs. Beaton A. Hall, Mrs. Harold J. Condit, Mrs. S. V. R. Crosby, Mrs. Charles Hopkinson, Mrs. W. Scott Pitts, Mrs. William C. Loring, Mrs. Walter D. Denney, Mrs. Gardiner M. Lane, Mrs. William M. Moore, and Mrs. Quincy A. Shaw, all of whose gardens are especially noted.

MR. and MRS. ARTHUR L. DERBY (Jeanette Derby) of No. 8 West Hill place are spending the summer in their place, "Shore Acres," near the beach. Mrs. Derby, who is a very lovely blonde, was one of the mainstays in the Fashion Show in Mrs. Hendricks Whitman's opera, "The Way to the Sun."

A NEW fashion has come into vogue at the Gibson house. It was the missing woman, Jayne says.

"When I questioned Mrs. Gibson I was not at all impressed by her story," Jayne said. "She says she was with the two men in the kitchen. The room is not big enough for three persons to get in, much less stage a fight."

"Mrs. Gibson said the robbers took a napkin from the refrigerator and gagged her. She said she had been in the kitchen for three days. Four of them were still twenty in place. If robbers had seized them in the dark, as she says, I do not believe they would have remained so perfectly in place."

"Then as to the twin she says she was used to fasten her legs. The hall of two was found under her husband's bed, and evidence had been used to cut it. Robbers don't cut twin with scissors."

The arrest did not shake Mrs. Gibson's composure. She stuck to her story. She was not able to call help she said, until she had worked one hand loose from the binding and removed the plug from her mouth.

Plymouth Boat

Among the many excursion steamers sailing from the Port of Boston one of the most popular is the Star Shore, which leaves Boston weekly at 10 a. m. for Plymouth. The steamer Star Shore owes its popularity to the fact that it offers a long, beautiful sail and a two-hour visit at the landing place of the Pilgrims, all within a day.

THE North Shore Garden Club of Massachusetts has become an active force in the betterment of the community, as it promotes interest in gardens, their design, management and culture. Its members meet to exchange experiences, and only those interested practically in their own gardens are eligible to membership.

The club, which is limited to forty members, meets every other Wednesday at four o'clock from June to September inclusive. The president is Mrs. Charles Hopkinson of Manchester, and the vice-president is Mrs. William C. Loring of Prides Crossing.

Last Wednesday, Mrs. S. V. R. Crosby, of West Manchester, read a profoundly interesting paper on "The Preservation of Native New England Plants" before an audience that nearly filled Horticultural Hall in Manchester. Colored slides, showing the wild flowers in their natural setting, illustrated the talk.

Ladies in the club are becoming strongly interested in broadening the scope of the coming summer exhibition of the North Shore Horticultural Society, to be held on Tuesday and Wednesday of next week in Manchester. This exhibition is one of the most gorgeously beautiful sights I have ever seen. All the wonderful gardens along the shore, which is famous for them, send vegetables, fruits or flowers. Perhaps the loveliest sight last year was the table on which the sweet peas were shown. 'WE CULT' IS SUBSTITUTED BY MOTHERS

Professor Arthur Griswold Long, instructor in everything from violin playing to free love, who is under observation in the Psychopathic Hospital, as a result of his attempt to establish a "love cult" in Boston, apparently left one item out of his calculations, namely, the old-fashioned mother.

For it became known today, at least two of his attempts to entice girls to his "studio" after the manner of the apostle and the Dr. were frustrated when two of these so-called "old-fashioned mothers" ordered him from the house. Prof. Long, with his music pupils, "queered" him, to use a common expression.

In both instances the man represented himself as a "Professor of Music" with a special fondness for the piano. As such he was engaged to teach South Boston girls the intricacies of that art. For a time all went well and there came suggestions and then vague announcements, the advancement of free love and the sublimation of the mother, the announcement came his rejection from at least two South Boston homes.

All this happened in 1915, during the early days of the war when English countrymen were fighting to stave off the intrusions of the Prussians, and the mothers of Britain, except, of course, Professor Long, was in the firing line.

This is the epitaph of the mother of Mrs. Mary Littman of No. 727 East street, South Boston.

"I will remember the first time I met him. He came to the house, presenting himself as a professor of music. He asked me to give my daughter and my niece, who was living with me, piano lessons at 50 cents a lesson."

Then the subject switched to Dr. Grigori, who was then before the police. He started to denounce the doctor but I, as an American, could not let any Englishman, much less one of my countrymen, so offend his aspirations.

"I said, 'Well, he is no worse than some of your English hypocrites.'"

"I will never forget the look that came over his face. For a second he looked at me in a manner that frightened me. His face turned a crimson red. But, in an instant, he regained his usual composure and promptly changed the subject to the communique."

Furthermore, his manner led me to believe that Long was not his right name. He came to the house a week for six months. One day he asked me my opinion of birth control and when I told him I was absolutely opposed to any such teaching, he asked me if I could be sure of my opinion. He asked me, was out of the question, for my religion taught me differently.

"I never allowed him in the room alone with the girls. I was afraid he might try to put his teaching into their minds and a friend with his smooth tongue was not to be trusted."

Then, one night he came and asked the girls to take their lessons in the future, at his studio, which he said was on Hancock street. One day he asked me if he could not give lessons at my home, he would give me $100.

"Up to that time, he had been quiet about speaking in front of the girls of the birth-control and free love matters. Then, one day he came to the piano stool, he blurted the thing right out. I was so taken back that I could say nothing for a moment."

"Then I said to him, 'Mr. Long, here is your home and there is the door. You get out of this house just as you can.'"

"Mrs. Ann Kearney of 372 East street, South Boston, advised the "Professor" said of the house after one of her daughters complained of him."

BOSTON CRAFT BREAKING UP ON ROCKS

New York, Aug. 15.—The freight steamer Mohawk, owned by the Barton Steamship Company of Boston, is being piloted to pieces on the rocks in the Kill Van Kull off Bayonne, N. J.

The steamer arrived in Bayonne from Boston Wednesday. Captain Isaac of the Mohawk veered toward the shore in order to permit a larger vessel to pass and the Mohawk struck the rocks.

Tugs failed to get the Mohawk off. The boat is being salvaged.

The Mohawk was a small wooden vessel, formerly piloted between Boston and Maine coast ports under the banner of the now defunct Maine Coast Steamship Company. She was taken over with other vessels by the Boston Company during the war. Her regular route was between Boston and Gloucester, N. J.

"Sypho-Nathol made Herbert's feet feel fine"

"Herbert's foot keeps him on his feet for hours at a time. He walks miles and miles every day. In hot weather his feet used to hurt him dreadfully—they would swell and get so tender he couldn't sleep at night. But Sypho-Nathol gave him quick relief."

Little Howard told me about Sypho-Nathol and its many uses. I bought a bottle at the drugist's. The directions recommended it for tired and aching feet.

"Herbert came home that evening with his feet driving him nearly crazy. He tried Sypho-Nathol as soon as I told him about it. A tablespoonful in a gallon of warm water made a clean smelling, refreshing solution. My dear I wish you could have heard Herbert. 'Sypho-Nathol is certainly a lifesaver, Best,' he said, as it soothed the soreness away. It's great stuff to have in the house—don't let's ever be without it."

But Sypho-Nathol has many other important uses. In cleaning water, it destroys germs which lurk in dust and dirt and threaten family health. As a disinfectant, it quickly dispels the unpleasant odors which come in sink pipes and drains and other hard-to-get-at places. It is indispensable in the bathroom, around toilet fixtures and as a flush for the closet bowl. It is a dependable antiseptic, and deserves a place in every home medicine chest.

Sypho-Nathol is 45% lime stronger than carbolic acid, yet it is as safe to have about the house as a cake of soap. Your druggist or grocer has Sypho-Nathol in four handy sizes, 1/2, 1, 2, 4, and 8 1/2 lbs. If he hasn't it he can get it easily. Ask for it by name—Sypho-Nathol."

Lashmere Square station of the "N." in East Cambridge. The spot where the cars shoot out of the station is unmarked by signs of any kind. The company has even failed to post a guard to caution pedestrians passing the spot. Recently a girl was saved from death only by quick action of another person. Residents are demanding action. Photo shows Gore

The Story Thus Far

MARY KELLY, a Boston girl, twenty-one and pretty, leaves a humdrum position to take a job in the office of a promoter. Her attention to detail wins her the post of private secretary to HALL DAWSON when the promoter's fair assistant leaves to marry a railroad magnate. Mary's hopes had been centred on winning this promotion and she strives earnestly to make good.

The second week of her new duties sees Dawson in the middle of a big deal, which is finally put through successfully. Hall shows his appreciation by telling Mary she helped a "lot" in putting it over. Now go on with the story.

By ELENORE MEHERIN.

"DON'T take off your hat, Mary. We're going down the line," said Dawson.

"Down the line?" I asked amazed. "What for?"

"That farm layout. Producers' meeting. Slippery ducks, those hayseeds. Gotta have everything in black and white."

I went to my desk and picked up half a dozen sharpened pencils, put them back and took out others and began to sharpen them. The mean, uneasy fear that had distressed me in the first months that I worked in Dawson's office ran over me now. I had grown used to his crude familiarity. It meant nothing. This was different. Rose Walker had never gone down the line with Dawson nor anywhere else, as far as I knew.

"I'll not go," I told myself. I looked at the faces of the people at the tables hastily, then I stood still, stiffed, half fainting with fear.

One face confronted me—a flower-like oval, a mass of golden hair, parted lips, proud, scornful, a pair of cold, angry blue eyes. It was the face of Dawson's wife.

For a moment I had a crazy impulse to run. My knees trembled; the blood pounded in my ears. Dawson stopped before me, half pushing me in a chair at a table. His back was rigid, his cheeks blanching. He went really over to the table where his wife sat with three other women.

I tried to look up, to seem natural, to keep my hands from shaking. The eyes of those four women were bolts. I was their target.

"What could he be saying? Would he sit with them and leave me alone?"

He turned. He was coming to me. "Mary, you've met my wife. We'll sit over there." His voice meant far off. My head was throbbing so I could hardly hear.

"No, I can't. Oh, I can't!" the feebleness of my voice startled me. He took my elbow. I got up and followed him.

"How are you, Miss Kelly? Did you learn all about farming?" Mrs. Dawson asked. Her words were full of insinuation.

"I learned a great deal," I heard myself saying. A middle-aged woman, beautifully mannered, measured, moved to make room for me.

"Thank you," I said in a rush of gratitude. "Wasn't it delightful riding this morning?" She glanced at Mr. Dawson, who smiled. She didn't seem to know what I said.

Dawson sat opposite, next his wife. I saw her lift her spoon with lazy charm, her finger covered with a ring, glimmering near. She said something I could not hear. I heard the feeling that they were playing a game.

"Combination, isn't it? Think about it. They were going. "Sorry we can't wait for you. Good-by, dear boy."

OUTA SEASON? NOT
on your ear! The garment shown here by May McAvoy, film star, is the latest thing in Summer furs. Cape is of champagne colored ermine. Garment has no sleeves and pockets are inside.

IT'S AN ART! FACT IT'S
"I'll tell you," said the artist. "Not much. There's not one woman in 10,000 collects a salary worth working for. Marriage is one way for a woman to get rich. Oh, well, I felt the ground danger. I might be one in 10,000. Well, you succeed today. I asked, eager to change the subject. We stopped at a small, ramshackle building—the town hall. About forty men, big, sun-tanned, mid-looking. When Dawson entered they got to their feet and about a dozen of them came forward with their hand extended, their eyes kindled with interest. It was easy to see that his magnetic enthusiasm had won their confidence.

I felt a thrill in working for this powerful fellow who commanded men like puppets. There were a few kippers, Dawson singled these out, listened to their arguments, flattered, and won them.

I sat at a long table taking down every word that was said. It seemed very trifling and unimportant.

"Why did he bring me here?" I thought. "What can he want with this jargon?" I looked up and caught his vivid eyes laughing at me.

"What about success, now, Mary? We were starting the very home. 'Proud of your Uncle Dudley? By golly, you'll get a dive this time, Mary.'"

"Hungry, Mary? By golly, I could eat a steer. We'll stop here and grab a bite at the Percheron Inn."

"I'm not hungry. I'll wait till we get to the city. I've never been in there." I had a dread of going with him, of going into this place.

"Just place on earth for a tasty bite, Mary. You little fool, you're not hungry, are you? The Percheron Inn is as near as you can get."

teacher charged with brutally beating pupils. Other insets are Clarence Foley, whose family says marks from whipping remained for weeks, and Rebecca Flinch, who says teacher gave her "third degree" in attempt to make her confess petty theft she did not commit, Stoneville School, where Miss Daggett teaches, is also shown.

Continued Tomorrow.

INDIAN SINGER HEADS BILL AT KEITH'S

It's a hotweather program at Keith's this week. Miss Juliet "The One Girl Revue" and "The Charming Cupolian" Indian baritone, are the headline acts and the audience received their offerings with much applause.

Marc Mac Dermott, the so-called dean of screen stars, offered himself and company in a one-act sketch called "I Haven't Time". It was quite good. Much credit is due Marc well Belser, who plays the "son", for his impersonation of the role. Much can be expected from him in the future.

BIG FIREWORKS SHOW TOMORROW NIGHT

John Serpico, president of the International Fireworks Company, has arrived in Boston to superintend the production of "seraping the Navy" at Braves Field tomorrow night. Mr. Serpico is a large manufacturer of fireworks in the world and comes from a line of fireworks makers dating back several centuries.

The production tomorrow night will be similar to that given last month and several new features, among them "The Eruption of Mount Vesuvius" will be introduced.

Vertumnus; "A Night in Spain"; a singing and dancing revue; Joe Laurie, Jr., the plot size author comedian; Inna Brothers, "The Men About Town"; and Tan Arks, ladder foot balancing, complete the bill.

WIFE GIRL ATTACKED WITH HATCHET

Paul River, Aug. 15.—Mrs. Mary Demery, thirty-two of No. 74 Hunter street, and her fourteen-year-old daughter, Jennie, were in the City Hospital with fractured skulls. John Demery, husband of the woman, is under arrest, charged with attempt of murder.

After a quarrel in his home today, Demery the police say, took a hatchet and attacked his wife and daughter, raining blows on their heads.

Both are expected to die.

Other Theatres

ORPHEUM THEATRE—A well-balanced bill was featured at the Orpheum Theatre yesterday. The photoplay, "Her Majesty," featuring Mollie King and Crichton Hale, is a romantic comedy drama, providing Miss King with the dual role of twin sisters. One twin is a pampered and petted spooz, the other is sweet and unspoiled and loved by all as "Her Majesty."

STATE THEATRE—For genuine thrills, excitement and laughs there have been few pictures more which equalled "The Dictator," starring Wallace Reid, which was shown to large and enthusiastic audiences at the State Theatre yesterday. From start to finish the action is rapid. Pretty Lila Lee adequately supported Mr. Reid as leading lady. The story deals with the adventures of a young American in a Latin-American revolution.

GORDON'S OLYMPIA—Although Katherine MacDonald productions have met with extraordinary success on the screen, never has she made such a satisfactory picture as "Domestic Relations," which was shown at Gordon's Olympia Theatre yesterday. This first National attraction is all that a motion picture should be. Its high dramatic values are offset by touches of rare comedy.

GORDON'S STRAND—For the first time in years Dorothy Gish is playing a serious role with plenty of heart interest and emotional feeling. In D. W. Griffith's motion picture, "Orphans of the Storm," which was shown yesterday at Gordon's Strand Theatre, Gish's character, she has the celebrated part of the blind girl.

GORDON'S CENTRAL SQUARE—"The Half Breed," a first National attraction, opened a run at Gordon's Central Square Theatre yesterday. Adapted from the famous story play, it has gained in vigor and expansion by its adaptation to the screen. "The Half Breed" is a story of the college graduate, half Indian, half white, has been depicted realistically and sincerely.

BOSTON THEATRE—"Outboard," featuring Dustin Farnum, at the Boston Theatre, is a picture with thrills, is exciting and as a moving picture is well worth seeing. The story is a real mystery and the audience is left in doubt as to the outcome until the very last minute.

LANCASTER THEATRE—Betty Compson scores heavily in her best starring vehicle, "The Green Temptation," now showing at the Lancaster Theatre. On the same program Richard Talmadge is seen in "The Unknown." There will be a change of program on Thursday.

NORUMBEGA PARK—Lawrence, Phil Martin, Rose Kimmet, Alice Martin and the rest of the fun-makers of Hoyt's Musical Revue, now on its second week at Norumbega Park, entertained two audiences yesterday. It will hold the stage until Thursday, when the company will put on a new show. Friday and Saturday are being made at Norumbega for a big baby show to be held the latter part of this month. Miss Laurette's great slide across the Charles River, presented free each afternoon and evening, continues to attract large crowds.

LEAGUE MOGULS TO PUT CRIMP IN PENNANT BUYING TRADES

NEW RULE TO ABOLISH LATE SEASON 'SALES'

League officials are expected to announce a new rule to abolish the late season "sales" of players. The rule would prohibit the purchase of players by one team from another after the season has begun. This move is expected to be made to prevent the kind of "sales" that have been common in the past, where teams would buy players just before the season ended to give them more time to develop.

There Is Good in Bad News

And We'll Have Wireless Power Some Day

Copyright, 1922, Max Co.

Even in evil there is good. The strike is stimulating enormously the use and development of water power. More of it will be harnessed up, to go on working forever, as long as the sun lifts the water and the clouds drop it in rain.

One paper mill has arranged to produce steam for a 5,000-horsepower boiler, by electricity instead of coal.

Less than 3 per cent. of the world's water power is now developed. Of the amount developed, nearly half is in the United States. But half of all the water power in the world is in Africa, practically all going to waste.

One of these days it will all be used; and kindly mark this prediction: The water power of Africa or the gigantic waterfall in Brazil, for greater in power than Niagara, will some day send, without wires, power to firing machines a thousand miles away. Wireless transmission of power was predicted by this writer more than ten years ago. Two days ago the learned Steinhilber, head man of the General Electric, predicted that power would be transmitted by radio—by wireless, of course. It WILL be, and men will fly over the North Pole, burning no fuel, driven and heated by power from Niagara.

Fair Criticism Is a Duty

There Are NO Exceptions

Copyright, 1922, Max Co.

A reactionary newspaper denounces Senator Reed of Missouri for criticizing the Supreme Court. Senator Reed said:

"We had cut the Tobacco Trust serpent into four or five innocuous pieces and now we see it is gathered together again, wagging its tail. And the Supreme Court will undoubtedly approve. Of late our Supreme Court has been turning its attention to trust building."

The government is run by three branches, legislative, which includes the Senate; executive, the President; and judicial, including the Supreme Court. Each has a right and duty to criticize the other two.

The Supreme Court can UNMAKE laws that the Senate makes. The Senate should be able to criticize the court and appeal to public opinion.

It is all right for the inhabitants of Tibet to pick out their grand lama, and then call him infallible. But that ought not to be done in a republic, not even with Supreme Court judges.

They represent inevitably the prejudices and powers that put them on the bench. And they are not different from other men except in being more so than the average. Those among them that are ablest WANT criticism.

Famine in India

Attempt to Raise Money in New Bedford Led Up by Man in Touch With British Consul-General

Some people in New Bedford wanted to raise money for the benefit of those who are made hungry in India through British misrule, and they obtained a permit to solicit funds on the streets just as they obtained it in Boston, Cambridge and elsewhere. And suddenly there appeared in the Mayor's office on the day when the solicitors were to go out on the streets, the secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, or some other business men's organization, who represented two things to the Mayor and the Board of Overseers.

In the first place, he declared that there were no considerable numbers in India who needed help; and second, that Boston had upon the same grounds refused to grant a permit for the solicitors in the Boston office.

The representative of those who were wanting to raise the funds demanded of the Mayor that he should call to the Overseers of the Poor of Boston to learn whether or not this meddling secretary dared tell the truth. The Mayor did so, and found that the man had not told the truth and that the city of Boston had granted a permit. This same meddling person was also asked how he knew there was no need of raising money for the people of India and HE SAID HE HAD BEEN TOLD BY THE BRITISH CONSUL-GENERAL IN NEW YORK!

Did he, or the Mayor, or anybody else, expect that the British Consul-General in New York would say anything else than that there was no need of a fund for India, when the need of it was caused by British misrule and was being raised at the instigation of men who were revolting against British tyranny there, and were determined to end it?

There is constant famine in India on account of British misrule. Four years ago more than thirty millions died in India of starvation when the British government by force took away from them enough food which they themselves had produced to have saved the lives of every one of those men, women and children.

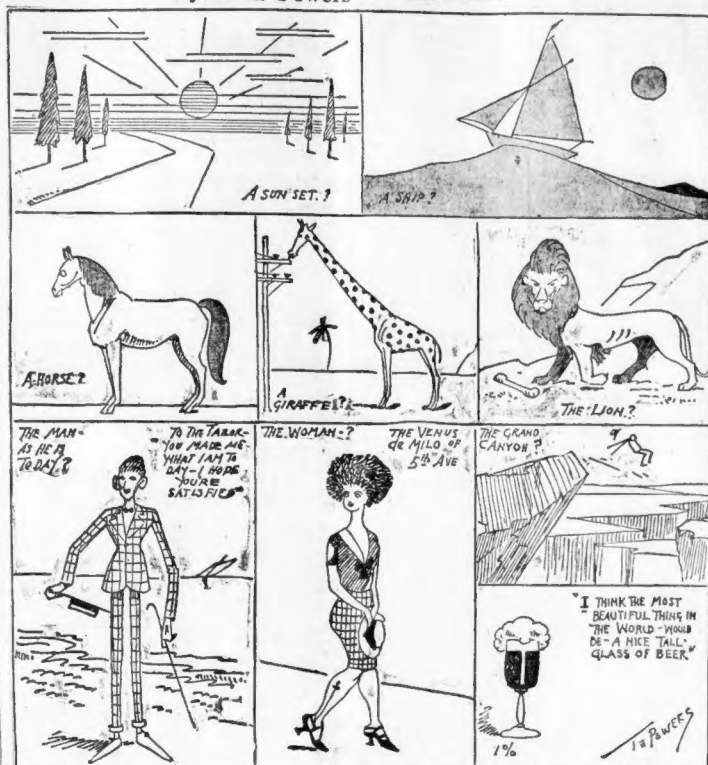

At the meeting in the Mayor's office it was urged by those who were opposing the solicitors of the fund for India that it was really the British cause, because the Irish-Americans in New Bedford were so much in evidence in the plans to raise this money. Naturally those who have sympathy with Ireland's cause sympathize with India's cause, and especially those who know what British tyranny means in their land. They remember the Irish famines in which hundreds of thousands lost their lives, and millions were scattered all over the face of the earth. They remember how Ireland sustained eight million people for nearly a century ago, and today when with our modern industrial system she ought to be able to sustain three times as many, yet she has only one-half as many. Naturally in any campaign to raise money for starving people in another part of the British Empire those who know something about starvation caused by British misrule in another part of the empire would be the most interested and the most likely to participate.

The Mayor said he was sorry when he asked those who were planning to raise money for India to suspend their operations until he made a further investigation. We shall soon know whether he was acting in good faith or was acting under the compulsion of the British Consul-General IN TOUCH WITH THE BRITISH CONSUL-GENERAL IN NEW YORK.

Poor "L" Service

Editor Boston American:

I am writing you relative to the poor "L" service of the many men in this column. It may not be doing it merely to condemn the Elevated, but in showing up the men who have been elected from this district in both branches of the legislature. One hears so much about the wonderful service the Brookline folks get. This is due to the fact that their men who represent them are on the job. No doubt when it is printed the present office holders will try and get some decent car service until election day and after that do a Rip Van Winkle.

ONE OF THE SUPPERS.

Newport Party

Editor Boston American:

Since "A Newport Girl" has been in this column, it may not be out of place to mention the attitude of the society girls in regard to the Newport. Black Party which has caused so much argument among the "Social Set" of Newport. Mrs. C. P. Belmont is quoted in a Boston paper as saying that it is outrageous to think of the society girls dancing with every "Tom, Dick and Harry" who may have been long been accustomed to such treatment, but being true American girls, make no comment. Why not keep the society "Beds" at home and let the Newportness girls come out and all will have a good time. If the City of Newport for the purpose and pleasures of society only, why not try to make the place as up to a good town where we are appreciated.

AND they knitted—the two of them—all day long and every minute of the day, except when they were eating luncheon and when they were driving along at the rate of forty miles an hour. They drove fast because they told their husbands they must hurry up and get back home—they wanted to finish their knitting.

And it was a glorious day—cool and foggy in town, and bright and sunny in the hills, and the place they chose for the picnic—what a field of daffodils! It isn't really a field, though—it's an orchard. Old and forgotten, the trunks of the trees are brown and gray, and the limbs are hung in soft gray moss.

In the Spring the trees are pink with apple blossoms and white with cherry petals and money with the drifted fragrance of the plum.

Now the leaves are green and shiny and the fruit hangs just beginning to redden from over-ripe fruit—God's orchard, we called it, the day we discovered it.

"Is this the place?" asked the front-seat sister, as she carried me that not all of the American people look with disfavor on the attitude of the American sailor. It must be admitted that any sailor who remains longer than one period of enlistment. The British Navy takes enlistments for not less than twelve years. Japan's enlistment period is eight. I think for that period men become experienced mariners and they know how to fight, because they are trained for many years. They are not the kind of men who are trained for your own American sailors and they will enter the conflict with whole heart and determination in every fiber of God's image. For the Newport party, would say that I have heard of the principle to mix with those who had fed themselves so greatly superior.

The Boston American has usually been the courageous friend of the common people. Why does it not now lift its voice to condemn the attitude of the Newport party on the household of New England? This propaganda is all the more despicable because

YOUNG is the way of mastery

If today is the anniversary of your birth, and so matter what you do, you will find that you are in the manner of the conqueror.

This is a day of unquestionable importance for all of us, for we are having to do with transport by sea and by land. Your birthday year will be quiet and generally uneventful.

A child born today will be delicate in constitution but intellectually alert and imaginative.

DO YOU FEEL LIKE GIVING UP

THE FIGHT AGAINST

Allowing yourself to become completely discouraged is dangerous to your welfare and that of your family.

There is times in every man's life when it is hard to keep up. It is much faster than you can meet them.

Unexpected expenses and ill-luck overtake you. You think your family more extravagant than you are, and all coming to make it appear to you that there is no use trying to continue such an uphill fight.

Supposing you do give up, what then?

Would you be any happier? You have these debts against you, and your family must be supported or you will suffer injured pride, if nothing more.

If you give up, you will be less able to work your way out, so what do you gain by throwing up your hands?

In a short time you would regret your action, and it might take you a long time to reach the place you had before you quitted under your troubles.

Keep going—keep plugging away—it is the only safe thing to do.

Remember your neighbors also have these same discouragements. Your failure to keep on the job means other failures.

A new method of catching (7) bootleggers, which has given Maine politicians a hearty laugh, is being related in Waldo County in connection with Sheriff Littlefield of Belfast. According to the story, the sheriff saw a stranger in Belfast, who he suspected of being a whiskey peddler, approaching the main street of the town. The sheriff immediately asked if he knew where any liquor could be obtained for sale. "I'll give you a bottle of good liquor," said the stranger.

"Well," said the stranger, "I think I know where I can get you some of the best money on the street. I'll give you the money and hold this pair of shoes I have been carrying. I'll be right back." The sheriff paid over the money and took the shoes. An hour later, when the stranger had failed to return, the "shoes" were investigated, and the package found to contain a bottle of liquor.

It was just an ordinary down-south man of the street, hungry and without a cent. Coming across a newspaperman he obtained for the price of a meal, he was handed a dollar bill and the man forgot all about the incident when a few weeks later he was arrested by a strange man in a Summer street who offered him a dollar explaining that it was the dollar the newspaperman had given him. "There was one case where the money wasn't given," said the professional pal-hander, said the latter.

some of the letters no that the letters fall short of reaching the drum, and the carrier does not collect. I believe that certain letters are more often dropped than others by certain persons.

A person who finds himself badly dropping letters in this way when writing rapidly is usually a writer of the common form of loach. The fault is one to be corrected not only for the sake of better typewriting, but because, like a fish in a piece of metal, it is likely to extend much farther than is apparent at a hasty glance. It gives you a bit of a headache when you need rapid writing.

The typewriter is a self-reliant for its user. It picks up the defects of nervous slaps, blunders of memory, scribbles and slips of the pen, and corrects them automatically. It is a mental mirror for you. By consulting which you may correct some of these faults and infelicities.

The application of the principle of the typewriter to the typewriter is a very curious indeed, and similar facts. The prevailing opinion is that errors are the same now as they used to be in the days of setting type by hand from boxes. It is interesting to read over a proof in printers' type and find that you have written on your machine, and see how other of the same kind of mistakes that you yourself committed have been added by the mechanical nature of the printing machine.

The result of the first of these ways of inverting letters are of course, and practice and they throw an interesting light upon the operations by which a motor centre of the brain are aroused.

As a result of my text, the typewriter machine is a good detector of some of the imperfections of the human machine, showing where it needs a drop more of the human machine as a detestive of personality a typewritten page almost ranks with fingerprints.

WE all use typewriting machines, and it is no longer "bad form" to write other than business letters with them. As those "youngsters" on typewriters find that the machine steadies the course of thought, like an improved rudder or an automatic, it writes more decorously and with greater care.

When you use your typewriter, write with the pen, though the guide more freely, wander more easily and are less easily written out.

Medbury Says

It Isn't the Woman Who Pays, She Just Reimburses the Man

A fellow in New York was jilted by his sweetheart so he sent her a bill for the money he had spent while he was courting her, and she sent him a check for the amount.

It isn't the woman who pays, she just reimburses the man.

The bill amounted to $150. He probably took her to dinner once or twice during the courtship.

He should have been more generous as long as he was using her money.

There's no use in being tight with your sweetheart's dough.

The hundred and fifty dollars was just for the actual cash. He didn't send any bill for time and labor.

This is going to make it tough for the rest of the men.

Pretty soon a girl won't go out with a fellow unless he signs a release.

Still, this will give the girls a chance to go ground more. They can meet some nice fellow and get acquainted with him.

They can have a well dinner, go to the theatre in a taxi and do it all on the easy payment plan.

And then if she doesn't want to pay it she doesn't have to go through bankruptcy.

All she has to do is to marry the fellow.

It all depends upon whether
